2015–2016 Annual Report

A Sacred Event

Br. Thomas Aquinas Hall, O.S.B. '06 professed his Solemn Vows before family, friends, the monks of Newark Abbey and the St. Benedict's community on August 15 in St. Mary's Church. This sacred event, as well as the two young men currently in novitiate, are hopeful signs of renewal and strengthened community for the Monks of Newark Abbey. Read more about the men who are being called to serve God in "Signs of Hope" on page 4.

GREETINGS

A Year to Remember

In September 2015, St. Benedict's Preparatory School set out, as we have every academic year since 1868, to change students' lives. We've always been the small school with the big mission, known to few outside New Jersey except for our loyal alumni and benefactors.

60 Minutes changed that. Two broadcasts of the national news program introduced our remarkable story to millions of viewers. The Hive's success in lifting young men from in and around Newark resonated with people across the nation, and even around the world. The results have been astounding.

Last year, a record number of donors stepped up to support our mission. In addition, our largest freshman class in more than 40 years began their St. Benedict's journey over the summer. People were even familiar with our unique educational approach at a recent conference on Benedictine education in Rome, attended by two of our teachers.

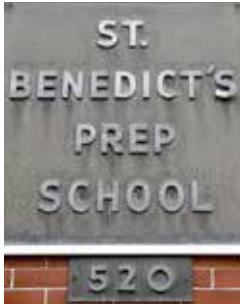

There's new life at Newark Abbey, as well, with Br. Thomas Aquinas, O.S.B. '06 professing Solemn Vows and two new novices joining the Abbey community. These three young men represent the promise that The Hive's proud Benedictine tradition will prevail, guiding new generations of Gray Bees for years to come.

The signs of hope are indeed everywhere. While there is still much work to do, we look to the future with confidence that St. Benedict's will thrive for many years to come. We thank you for the important role you have played in supporting the School's mission, and more importantly, the lives of our students.

I am honored to serve the School at such a pivotal time in St. Benedict's history. Together, we can take great pride in helping to create the momentum that has brought us to this moment.

Sincerely,

William H. Connolly, Jr. H '91
Chairman
Board of Trustees

New Faculty Faces

Home is where The Hive is. While that's true of all Gray Bees, it's especially apropos for three alumni who returned to St. Benedict's in August.

Gabriel Drouet '10 and Elliott McFarland '12 joined the faculty to teach math, while Brian Delaney '02 teaches criminal justice and English. Mr. McFarland will also serve as Assistant Fencing Coach and plans to be on The Trail next spring.

Other new faces in St. Benedict's classrooms this year include Stephanie Kranz in math and Rich Molina '06, Head Fencing Coach, who now also teaches physics. In addition, Brian Hohlmann teaches humanities and works with students in the weight room.

St. Benedict's outstanding faculty includes 24 teachers with master's degrees and five with Ph.D.s.

CLASS OF 2020 SETS ADMISSIONS RECORD

One hundred fifty-nine Gray Bees began their freshman year at St. Benedict's Prep in late July, the largest ninth grade class the School has welcomed in more than 40 years. The robust enrollment is attributed to a number of factors.

The 60 Minutes broadcast on St. Benedict's generated new interest, more than 50 of the School's 8th grade students committed to St. Benedict's for high school, and word-of-mouth among prospective families has spread in Newark and beyond.

Approximately 55 percent of the freshman class is from Newark. Other freshmen commute from Belleville, East Orange, Irvington, Jersey City, Roselle, South Orange, Union and other communities in northern and central New Jersey. There are also 12 freshmen who reside in Leahy House from 10 different schools.

159 Freshmen

Largest class in more than 40 years

Approximately 55% of the Class of 2020 is from Newark

Approximately 45% are from Northern and Central New Jersey and beyond

Freshmen matriculated from a diverse range of schools that include Catholic grammar schools, public middle schools and charter schools.

THE RULE IN MOTION

Educators from around the world share best practices that strengthen Benedictine identity.

What stamps a school as Benedictine? That was the central question at the seventh triennial international congress of the Benedictine Educators' Network (BENET) held in Rome last spring. Patricia Flynn H '95, Drama Guild Director, and James F. Duffy H '16, Dean of the Lower Division, represented St. Benedict's at the conference.

"For me, the big takeaway was that, although we all operate as separate houses, we all follow the Rule of St. Benedict," said Mr. Duffy. "So many things we do here at St. Benedict's are examples of the Benedictine lifestyle, like saying 'Christ among us' to dismiss class. We don't necessarily realize it because it's just the way we do things. Those simple acts are The Rule in motion."

In addition to finding commonalities between schools around the world, educators at the event shared best practices that strengthen Benedictine identity. When one workshop presenter alluded to St. Benedict's Group System, Ms. Flynn stepped in to lead an impromptu discussion explaining the concept to other educators. Meanwhile, three principals of vibrant schools in Chile tapped Mr. Duffy to learn about the remarkable ways St. Benedict's develops camaraderie among students.

Mr. Duffy and Ms. Flynn also brought some profound realizations home to Newark. "St. Benedict's is in a wealthy country, but we serve the poor," Ms. Flynn said. "We're like a bridge between wealthier Benedictine schools in the United States and Europe, and poorer schools in developing nations. Our students are like their students."

The idea that God is present in all academic subjects, not just theology, also illuminated the congress for her. "That affected me deeply. For a lot of us there was a sudden revelation, in the Benedictine tradition, that every subject is a pathway to God." The fellowship generated at the congress created enduring bonds that link Benedictine schools around the world. In Rome, Mr. Duffy and Ms. Flynn spent time with St. Benedict's alumni Fr. Martin Mager, O.S.B. '53, Superior of the Monastic Community at Woodside Priory School in California, and Br. Paul Diveny, O.S.B. '71, Headmaster of Delbarton School in Morristown, N.J.

Those connections, developed with educators at home and abroad, strengthen the Benedictine mission at all schools, Mr. Duffy said. "I feel like if we walked into any school around the world, we would feel at home."

SENIOR GROUP LEADER SPEAKS AT CONCORDIA SUMMIT

Tom Brokaw spoke. So did Hon. Madeline Albright and Warren Buffet. And St. Benedict's Prep Senior Group Leader Dalyn Woody '17 also spoke at the Concordia Summit, a gathering of the world's most prominent business, government and nonprofit leaders, held September 19–20 in New York City.

The Summit, which featured scores of speakers, aims to examine global challenges and identify means of collaboration and partnerships to build a more prosperous and sustainable future. Dalyn spoke about student leadership in K-12 education, and, more specifically, how leadership works and the role it plays at St. Benedict's Prep.

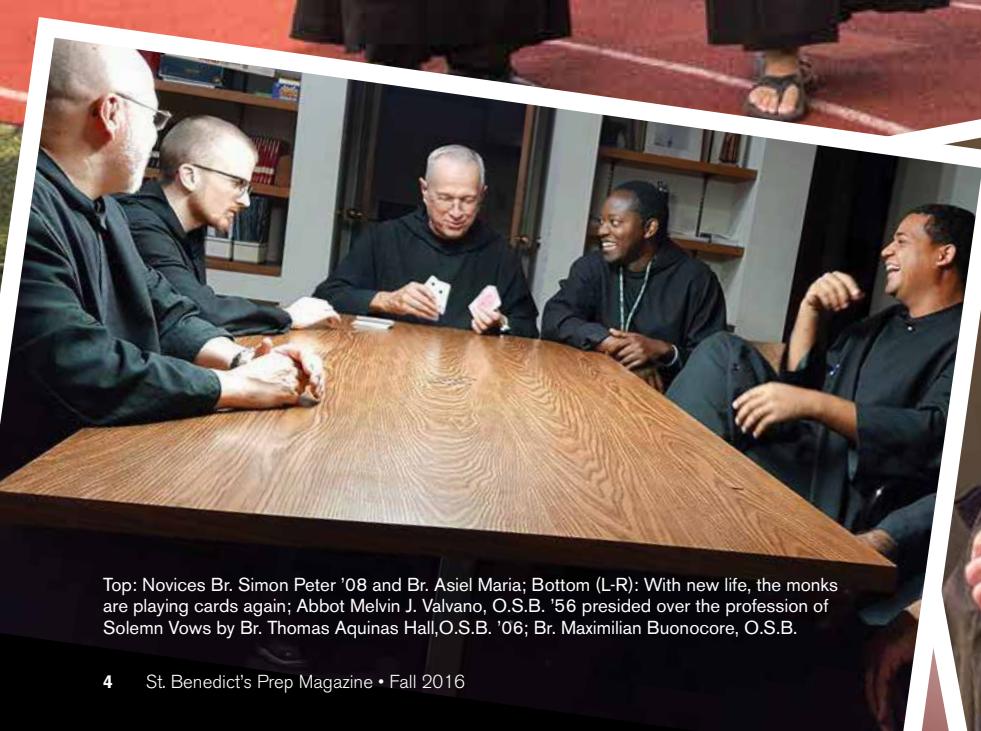

He was invited to the Summit by R. Brad Lane, co-founder and CEO of RIDGE-LANE Limited Partners, also a Summit speaker, who said he believed the panel on education would be strengthened with the addition of a student voice. Mr. Lane, impressed with St. Benedict's when he visited with Ron Beit, a member of the School's Board of Trustees, asked the School to recommend a student.

Dalyn told the student newspaper, Benedict News Online, the Summit was a consequential opportunity to represent the School. "Most people would see it as, 'Oh, we're showing Benedict's off,'" he said. "But I see it as a chance to give people a better understanding of the School and what we do."

Signs of HOPE

A new generation of monks is shaping the future of Newark Abbey, injecting youthful energy and fresh ideas into the Benedictine mission in Newark.

Top: Novices Br. Simon Peter '08 and Br. Asiel Maria; Bottom (L-R): With new life, the monks are playing cards again; Abbot Melvin J. Valvano, O.S.B. '56 presided over the profession of Solemn Vows by Br. Thomas Aquinas Hall, O.S.B. '06; Br. Maximilian Buonocore, O.S.B.

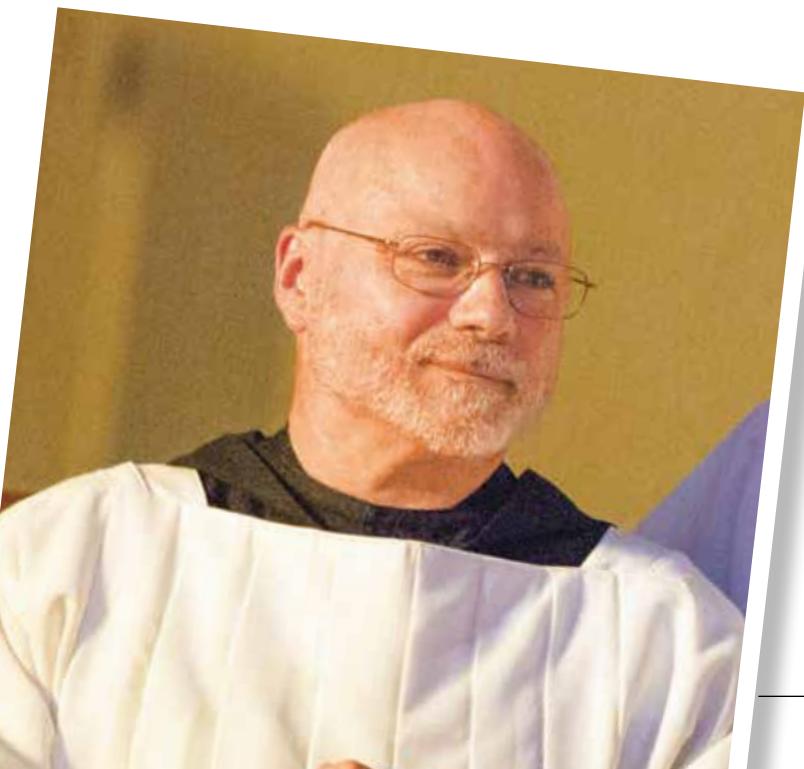

Newark Abbey is a little livelier these days, and Fr. Albert Holtz, O.S.B. '60 wouldn't have it any other way. The Director of Novices and the other monks residing at Newark Abbey have welcomed three young men, all under age 30, to the monastery in recent years. It's a sure sign that the forward momentum that has buoyed the School has lifted the Abbey, as well.

"It's a sign of life, like a green shoot coming out of a tree stump. These are the monks who are going to be here for the next 50 or 60 years," Fr. Albert said. "We've been teaching the students in the School about being optimistic and God taking care of us. Well, now we're getting a chance to see it happen, not just in the School, but also in the monastery."

Fr. Augustine Curley, O.S.B. '74, St. Benedict's Chaplain, teacher and Prior of the Abbey, agrees. "I'm hopeful. There's a lot of interest in the monastery."

“It’s a sign of life, like a green shoot coming out of a tree stump. These are the monks who are going to be here for the next 50 or 60 years.”

In August, Br. Thomas Aquinas, O.S.B. '06 professed solemn vows, while Simon Clayton '08 and Asiel Rodriguez entered novitiate earlier this year, taking the names Br. Simon Peter and Br. Asiel Maria. Now, the fourth floor of the Abbey where the novices reside, echoes with youthful laughter. With the passings last spring of Fr. Boniface Treanor, O.S.B. '47 and Fr. Mark Payne, O.S.B. '69, their presence is a poignant reminder that life moves on after great loss.

The wider range of ages at the Abbey has provided unique opportunities for generational sharing, with experienced monks contributing their guidance and the younger men enlivening evening recreation periods with card games. Brs. Thomas, Simon and Asiel have also advanced the Abbey's use of social media to promote vocations through new Twitter (@NewarkAbbey) and Facebook accounts. Newark Abbey's online presence has taken on a decidedly youthful flair, with hashtags like #monkstuff and a new meme showing a monk's hood and declaring, "We are...Monks in the Hood."

While they provide important peer support for each other, the three young men are also tangible reminders for others that monastic life is a joyful, deeply spiritual and rewarding choice.

Over the years, Fr. Augustine has been encouraged by a gradual shift in the way Gray Bees regard vocations. The monks make an effort to maintain a strong presence and discuss vocations within the School, and all generations – including Brs. Thomas, Simon Peter and Asiel – were very visible at the St. Benedict's fall open house. As a result, Fr. Augustine says today's students are much more open to the possibility of vocations. "Now, the students will say it's easier to express an interest in the monastery and get support from their friends. One student told me, 'You cannot come to this school and not think about vocations.'"

While no students have mentioned an interest in monastic life to Br. Thomas yet, he's prepared with some good advice if that happens. "Try it here to see if you want to do it, don't just talk about it. If you really want to do it, the one who decides that is you. Talking to other people is helpful, but ultimately, the decision is yours to make."

In 1969, Newark Abbey housed about 45 monks, according to Fr. Albert. When St. Benedict's closed three years later, almost half of the monks transferred their stability to St. Mary's Abbey in Morristown, leaving a group of about 13 monks in Newark who devoted themselves to re-opening the School a year later. Since then, the number of monks has remained relatively constant, but the three young men have now re-energized the community.

Fr. Augustine wasn't a monk yet, but he remembers that era well. Then a sophomore at The Hive, he had to transfer to another Catholic high school when St. Benedict's closed. Yet, he had already established a strong connection with St. Benedict's, keeping in touch with the monks at Newark Abbey. That connection with the Benedictines ignited his own vocation, and he's resided at the monastery since 1982.

Today, Fr. Augustine believes some alumni who maintain ties to Newark Abbey just as he did could be the start of a new generation of monks who will carry on the mission of St. Benedict's. "When they were at St. Benedict's, maybe they heard that call, but never acted on it. It might be time to revisit that call. It's never too late. The door is always open." (B)

AFTERCLASS

WITH FR. EDWIN LEAHY, O.S.B. '63

Headmaster Fr. Edwin Leahy, O.S.B. '63 sat down for a candid conversation about the Benedictine monks of Newark Abbey and their relationship with St. Benedict's Prep.

There are 15 monks in Newark Abbey and 13 of them are professed to this Benedictine community. How would you describe their role and visibility at St. Benedict's today?

Well, many of us teach. The Abbot is certainly known by everybody, and even those who don't have a specific role in the School are visible in the School as we celebrate the Eucharist and liturgies. Most are involved in one way or the other.

You have to remember the School only survives because of prayer, so there is constant prayer going on with people who are not directly involved in the School. And the life of the Abbey goes way beyond the School, as there are a lot of different roles and things that need to be done. So, visibility in the School, given the size of the community, is something I think is pretty high. There's a real presence.

Does the monks' presence at St. Benedict's extend beyond teaching and some of the roles you described?

It goes way beyond students' time here. We witness weddings, baptize babies, bury parents and do all those kinds of ministerial relationships that happen as a result of being here. Kids will call for advice, depending on who they have a relationship with. Just about everybody in the community will say, 'Oh, I was talking to so and so the other day.' Different relationships get created and sustained through life.

For example, I was talking to a kid just this morning (a kid – he's a man, he's almost 50 years old!) with whom I've been in constant contact since he graduated. Then, there are others who re-establish a connection with the monks because of something going on in their lives.

Has maintaining these connections gotten easier with email, social media and technology?

It's a lot easier, sure. For those monks who use it. Not everybody does. Our life is not a life that is seeking all kinds of relationships because it's a life of seeking the Lord. So, technology can become a huge distraction, as well. Those of us with certain roles and responsibilities tend to use technology, but there are times when you have to shut it off. Because there's a lot more people out there than there are of us, so sometimes it can become a big challenge.

The last year or so has brought two novices, Simon Clayton '08 and Asiel Rodriguez, to Newark Abbey and Br. Thomas Aquinas Hall, O.S.B. '06 professed Solemn Vows recently. When you think about the future of St. Benedict's, what does the monks' role look like? Or what could it look like?

It looks like the story of Joshua who was going to take Jericho. The way he did it was to surround the city and make people think there were a whole lot more of them than they really were. That's what I think we try and do. Come out of everywhere to make the kids think there are a lot more of us than there really are. Could the School continue into the future without monks? Sure. But it would not even be close to the same, because the monastic presence changes the way the whole place operates. That doesn't diminish the value of the education, but it's completely different if there are no monks here. I'm more convinced of that than I ever was.

How come?

Well, the second question is important. What could the monks' role look like? Without a community of believers here, it's very different, because how do you keep the School open 24 hours a day, seven days a week? People can come here any time, day or night, and find somebody to respond to their need. So if there are no monks, what could it look like? I don't think we'll get to that point, but if we did, we'd have to work at establishing a community of believers. Not just residents, but a community of faith that's here, and that sustains the work.

“I've been doing this a lot of years and there's a lot more conversation about this life in the last five years, than I've ever experienced in the 40 years I've been doing this.”

Has the presence of the novices made a difference? Yes, absolutely. And Br. Thomas' profession of Solemn Vows, no question about it. It makes a huge difference. Because if nothing else, the energy levels are different. It gives you a sense that, 'Wow, what we are doing has attracted people.' And that the responsibility can get passed. So, that's exciting.

Do you see a way for the responsibility for the School to be passed?

Uh huh. All the time. There's a generation of four or five guys who are here now who could do it. There are young people who have the potential to have a huge influence on the School as they get older in the monastery. And there are other kids now, maybe because of Br. Thomas and the novices, Simon and Asiel, who are much more open to talking about vocations and the community. I've been doing this a lot of years and there's a lot more conversation about this life in the last five years, than I've ever experienced in the 40 years I've been doing this.

What kinds of conversation?

Kids are willing to talk about vocations. Kids would look at you before and say, "That's crazy, I'm not doing that." Kids now will talk about it. And they'll come to church with us; one student was with us for Vigils just the other day because he's interested. That never would have happened before. Never. So it's also hopeful when you see something like that.

When students are interested in this life, is there a formation process in place?

That's the big challenge. Where's the door and how do you find your way in? We've been talking about formalizing it more, this way of exploring the possibility. Right now, a 16- or 17-year-old can live in Leahy House and have access to the prayer life and, when they turn 18, can ask to live in the monastery to explore the life. So, there is one way, pushing down into the senior year of high school, where a student can explore this and figure out if he wants to pursue it. But you also have to have a way for people who graduated St. Benedict's and want to maintain contact. And that's what we are trying to develop now, and then make public.

What else is important for alumni to know about the Benedictine presence at the School and the future leadership of St. Benedict's?

It's very important to remember that in 1972 or 1973, there was no obvious leader. Somehow, it worked out. I got tagged. I wasn't an obvious leader at the time; I was 26 years old. If a leader means one person who is head of the School, I'm assuming that someone will be raised up. And is it important for a monk to be the head of the School? Absolutely. Absolutely, I think it's true.

And right now? We are here doing God's work. I don't want to sound kind of glib about it, but I think what happens in the future, God will provide a way for us to do that. That argument would have been a lot harder to make one year and a half ago, without Simon and Asiel here. Those two guys in novitiate, plus the profession of Solemn Vows by Br. Thomas, is huge for the community—kids, parents, everybody—in addition to the monks. It's enormous. Simon in a unique way, because he's an alumnus with Thomas. Kids can look at them and say, "Wow, maybe I can do that." B

Monte Cassino Society

Monte Cassino, the rocky hill near Rome, Italy and site of St. Benedict of Nursia's first monastery, is the physical foundation upon which the Benedictine Order was built. The Monte Cassino Society is a core group of alumni and friends who serve as the financial foundation of St. Benedict's Preparatory School. These generous believers have demonstrated an admirable dedication to the School's mission and students by making an investment of $1,000. Recent graduates (last 15 years) who invested at specific levels are recognized as Associate Members.

GIFTS BY CLASS

We are grateful to our alumni for their generosity and continuous support. Annual Giving totals for each class include cash received, as well as gifts- and services-in-kind. Donors who made a pledge, but not a payment toward it, in FY16 are listed with their class and counted in Class Participation percentages. However, pledge amounts are not counted in Annual Giving totals to avoid duplicate counting in the subsequent years when payment is received. Honorary alumni are listed with their class, but are not counted in Participation or Annual Giving totals. Thank you.

St. Benedict's PREPARATORY SCHOOL

It's Time.

You've worked hard to achieve what you have – whether it's a little or a lot or somewhere in between – and you deserve the right to say what happens to it.

A will gives you the control you deserve.

St. Benedict's Prep has put together a couple of simple tools that give you everything you need to begin crafting your estate plan.

Visit sbp.org/plannedgiving to get these free tools, and get something else in the process – peace of mind.

We're backing you!

Everything you read in this magazine was made possible, in part, by the generous backing of our Annual Fund donors. Your gift helps supplement tuition fees to do everything from paying faculty salaries to providing financial aid, funding athletic programs and other extracurricular activities.

Give today to Garnet & Gray by December 31!

To make a gift, visit www.sbp.org/invest. To learn more about our Advancement efforts here at The Hive, contact Senior Director of Advancement John Huss '81 at (973) 792-5753 or jhuss@sbp.org.
